Totaling approximately eighteen million dollars-a million more than was sought for the current year and four million more than Congress appropriated-the estimates for the needs of the District of Columbia during the fiscal year that begins July 1, next, were transmitted formally by the Commissioners to the Secretary of the Treasury today.

The big outstanding features of the budget, it is understood, are recomnendations for a liberal school building program, the largest ever proposed: increased salaries for the lower paid teachers of the schools and the twoplatoon system for the fire department, which will necessitate employ ment of an increased number of fire

Not Public Till December.

Under the law, the budget must go to the Secretary of the Treasury not later than October 15 of each year, and it may not be published until received by Congress in December. The Commissioners are required to keep their total figure within the amount of the estimated revenue of the District plus an equal amount to be appropriated by Congress under the organic law, or half-and-half act. The estimated revenues for next year are $9,204,372.

It is learned that no new parks are provided for in the budget, but the Commissioners have asked for new school buildings to meet the rapidly while the New York Giants threw in their last reserves to hold the key to the world's series. On account of the high cost of materials and labor, the buildings will cost considerably more than if they had been built a year or two ago, and the cost in the aggregate is by far the largest that the District ever sought to assume for new school structures in one year.

Increased Fire Efficiency.

The Commissioners felt that the high The Commissioners felt that the high cost of living made imperative the raising of the salaries of the poorer-paid teachers of the schools, and have estimated accordingly. They believe that the two-platoon system will lead to increased efficiency in the fire department and have strongly urged this improvement. ## Petrograd Newspapers Alarmed.

The newspapers exhibit alarm at the landing of the Germans on Oesel Island. The Bourse Gazette says the situation of the country is the more complicated because a solution must be found, not only of the unsatisfactory state of affairs in the interior, but of the problem presented by the closing of the Gulf of Riga by the Germans.

The Russkaya Volia says: "We are being led toward our calvary, but perhaps we shall find our resurrection."

The Rech attributes the disaster partly to bad visibility and the frivolity of leaders of Russian democracy. The socialist press takes the Maximalists to task. The Volia Naroda recalls Premier Kerensky's warning of the danger of a German coup in the Baltic, which was stigmatized by the leader of the Maximalists as an unworthy political maneuver.
